

*Wesley Memorial Church
New Inn Hall Street
Oxford*

Open Doors

Wesley Memorial Church redevelopment

Number 9

May 2010

Charity Auction in March

Congratulations to Colin Saunders and the team of 25 helpers for organising such a successful auction! And to Brian Stepney for his the expertise and tenacity before, during and after the event!

The final total has now topped £4,000 – more than 80% of that sum coming from non-church members.

Wesley Mem website

Take a look at the updated website www.wesleymem.org.uk. With new logo, fresh homepage and podcast, it represents a snap-shot of life and work at Wesley Mem. Its aims are two-fold: to appeal to newcomers to Oxford who are searching for an ‘open’ church; and to persuade potential funding bodies that Wesley Mem is a dynamic and reliable partner. Many thanks to David Ford, Emma Huber, Gemma Winn and other members of the team for persevering with the website project – a great achievement!

Fun Runs, Treasure Trails

Well done, once again, to competitors and sponsors in this year’s ‘Fun Run’: you raised over £300! Now look out for the next big event – the Summertown Quiz Trail with buffet lunch next Saturday, 29 May. Buy your tickets today (adult - £7.50; family - £20) so that catering can be planned.

Bastion and city wall

Have you heard about the large hole outside the ‘green kitchen’? It’s part of the archaeological evaluation of the site and a requirement of the City Council before granting planning permission for the Open Doors project. As the specification states: ‘(It) will comprise a hand-dug trench measuring 3m by 1.5m ... designed to reveal the inner face of the exposed city wall. Excavation will proceed to a depth of c 1.2m.’ Let’s hope they don’t find anything of great significance, or they will have to carry on digging!

*Wesley Memorial Church
New Inn Hall Street
Oxford*

Open Doors

Wesley Memorial Church redevelopment

Number 9

May 2010

Charity Auction in March

Congratulations to Colin Saunders and the team of 25 helpers for organising such a successful auction! And to Brian Stepney for his the expertise and tenacity before, during and after the event!

The final total has now topped £4,000 – more than 80% of that sum coming from non-church members.

Wesley Mem website

Take a look at the updated website www.wesleymem.org.uk. With new logo, fresh homepage and podcast, it represents a snap-shot of life and work at Wesley Mem. Its aims are two-fold: to appeal to newcomers to Oxford who are searching for an ‘open’ church; and to persuade potential funding bodies that Wesley Mem is a dynamic and reliable partner. Many thanks to David Ford, Emma Huber, Gemma Winn and other members of the team for persevering with the website project – a great achievement!

Fun Runs, Treasure Trails

Well done, once again, to competitors and sponsors in this year’s ‘Fun Run’: you raised over £300! Now look out for the next big event – the Summertown Quiz Trail with buffet lunch next Saturday, 29 May. Buy your tickets today (adult - £7.50; family - £20) so that catering can be planned.

Bastion and city wall

Have you heard about the large hole outside the ‘green kitchen’? It’s part of the archaeological evaluation of the site and a requirement of the City Council before granting planning permission for the Open Doors project. As the specification states: ‘(It) will comprise a hand-dug trench measuring 3m by 1.5m ... designed to reveal the inner face of the exposed city wall. Excavation will proceed to a depth of c 1.2m.’ Let’s hope they don’t find anything of great significance, or they will have to carry on digging!